Dear Mr. Minister:

I hope that you have found recent events to be at least encouraging, if not entirely satisfying. There was a great deal of opposition, especially within the United States Congress, to withdrawing any portion of the semiconductor sanctions. President Reagan went as far as he thought prudent in light of the data and the upcoming debate on trade legislation in the U.S. Senate. He concluded that a full lifting of the sanctions, before our data indicated compliance, would be unwise and could possibly result in a backlash, ultimately making whatever trade legislation that is adopted worse for both Japan and the United States.

I have also been told that you had fruitful discussions with our Department of Commerce on the various computational differences. I hope that we can reach full agreement on methodology and thereby narrow our differences even further.

I know that for many sound reasons you disagree with the sanctions and their continued imposition. We simply have an honest disagreement on this point. However, I am encouraged to say that the trends indicated by the data, if continued, should allow a further easing of the sanctions later in the year.

With my best wishes,

Sincerely,

Dear Ms. Elliott:

Thank you for your letter to Senator Baker conveying the desire of Mrs. Ruth Harris of Johnson City, Tennessee, to contribute to a "Humanities Association" in which the President and Mrs. Reagan are involved. I must inform you that no private organization by that name exists. There do exist, however, both a National Endowment for the Arts and National Endowment for the Humanities, created by Congress and operating as independent Federal agencies devoted to the promotion of excellence in the arts and humanities. The work of the endowments is primarily achieved through the provision of grants to worthy organizations, including State and local government entities, and to individuals.

I am informed that the National Endowment for the Humanities is empowered to accept contributions from the general public. Should Mrs. Harris wish to make a contribution to the Endowment, correspondence should be sent directly to the National Endowment for the Humanities, 1100 Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20506. Checks are to be made payable to: The National Endowment for the Humanities.

Because the White House is not authorized to accept monetary items, I am returning your enclosure.

I hope that this information is helpful. If this office can assist in any other way, please do not hesitate to write.

Dear Mr. O'Neil:

Thank you for sending the editorials from "Investor's Daily" outlining the President's many accomplishments. I have found these pieces helpful and am sending them to Tom Griscom for his review.

With my appreciation and best wishes,

Sincerely,

Howard H. Baker, Jr.
Chief of Staff to the President

Dear Emmie:

You have been so kind to me over the years, and your note is only the latest such gesture. It's a privilege to help the President accomplish his goals, the job's a lot easier with friendship and support like yours.

Thanks again for the encouragement -- Joy and I send our best wishes.

Sincerely,

Howard H. Baker, Jr.
Chief of Staff to the President

Dear Mr. McCabe:

Thank you for your letter inviting me to address the New York Society of Security Analysts as you begin to celebrate your 50th anniversary.

I would like to participate in the Golden Circle Lecture Series, but will be unable to do that any time this year. If you would send a follow-up invitation to me early next year, I'd be happy to see what we can do at that time.

With best wishes,

Sincerely,

Howard H. Baker, Jr.
Chief of Staff to the President

Dear Ed:

Thank you for your letter inviting me to address the Heritage Associates meeting on September 17.

Although I am honored by your request, the heavy demands of my schedule have forced me to decline your kind offer. I do hope, however, that this important event goes well for you.

Sincerely,

Howard H. Baker, Jr.
Chief of Staff to the President
